

Fiberglass Tool & Equipment Restoration

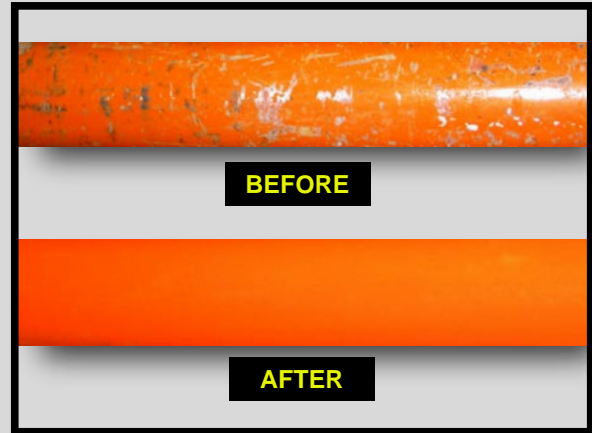

FIBERGLASS RESTORATION PROGRAM

Hi-Line restores and tests hot sticks, arms & ladders and other fiberglass equipment to like new...

Fiberglass tools used in high voltage line work often get scuffed and damaged over time, rendering them potential safety hazards. These tools are usually stashed in warehouses: too expensive to throw out, too questionable to use in the field. Hi-Line's Fiberglass Restoration program can turn this warehouse clutter into useful product, certified to meet ASTM standards.

...for 1/2 the cost of new*.

To facilitate your tool restoration program, a Hi-Line container can be parked on your premises so tools can be collected, ridding your warehouse and property of clutter. When the container is full, Hi-Line will haul it away, inventory and restore every salvageable tool, and return them like new to your location, saving you thousands of dollars.*

*Restoration prices are estimates and could vary by +/- 20% depending upon condition of item to be restored. There are no sales taxes for restoration labor. If Hi-Line deems the cost of restoration to be more than 50% of the new cost of the item, owner will be consulted and advised prior to commencement of work. New item prices shown in these examples do not include sales taxes. Sales taxes will be calculated and added in with purchase. *Hi-Line offers free pick up and delivery of one tool, of which half will be refinished, to demonstrate the thorough fiberglass restoration process. Call Hi-Line for details.
